GEO. W. HIGGS

I still selling groceries--the rains came and the winds blew. The flood has come and gone. I am a little disfigured from the effects of the flood but am still in the ring. Competition is said to be the life of trade, the more competition we have the cheaper we sell--I have just received a part of a car of Cabbage, Onions and Potatoes. These will be sold very cheap, nearly like giving them away. I am still hungry for Chickens and Eggs. My trade is still improving every day. Why? Because I sell good Groceries for little money, also have fresh roasted peanuts 5 cents a sack, 5 sacks for 5 cents a sack. Also have a complete line of French Harps 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30 and up to 50c.

WHITE HEARD FROM.

A Runner Reaches Estcourt With Dispatches From Him.

REPORTS ALL WELL.

They Bring an Account of a Repulse of the Boers in Which They Say the Boer Losses Were Considerable at Ladysmith.

Estcourt, Friday, Nov. 17.--A runner has arrived here from Ladysmith bearing dispatches from General White, who reports all well there. He adds that the Boer's shells are of no effect. General White recently made a sortie and drove the Boers from their guns and position. The British did not lose a man. The town is healthy.

It is rumored that the Boers have occupied the village of Weenen 25 miles hence. What advantage they hope to derive therefrom is not known.

The bombardment of Ladysmith continues almost daily with big guns. The Boers endeavored on Nov. 14, to make closer investments but were repulsed. General White following this up with a sortie which drove the Boers from all their positions, with considerable loss. The Boers are reported to be seriously short of provisions.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

It Comes from a Correspondent With the Boers Near Ladysmith.

Lorenzo, Marquez, Delagoa Bay, Nov. 18--Belated dispatches from a correspondent with the Boers near Ladysmith, up to Tuesday last, have been arriving after being strictly censored at Pretoria. They throw some light on the fighting already reported from other sources. They say that on Friday, Nov. 10, eight Lyddite shells were fired into the Transvaal central artillery position without doing any harm.

The wood of the platform of the second big gun on the Bulawayo hill was damaged, but has since been repaired. Commandant Weilbach has captured a man who reported General White wounded and that he had gone to Pietermaritzburg, leaving General French in command. This, however, does not tally with Transvaal information. The prisoner also reported the British forces hiding underground in chambers in order to avoid shells and said there were about 1000 in the hospitals.

General Joubert has been indisposed, but is better.

The British forts on the north side of Ladysmith opened on the nearest Boer battery and shells fell so thickly that the Boers were compelled to lie flat and sheltered. Later they opened fire on the British batteries, which had ceased firing.

Heavy fighting occurred between the Orange Free State corps and the British south of Ladysmith during Nov. 14. The result is not known.

FIGHTS AT LADYSMITH.

Boers Have Made Several Bombardments Within a Week.

London, Nov. 18--News is beginning to dribble in with details sufficient to form an outline of what has happened at Ladysmith since the reoccupation of the bombardment on Nov. 7. Severe engagements have taken place on Nov. 9, 10 and 14, and lastly, early in the morning of Nov. 16 heavy firing was heard in Estcourt from the direction of Ladysmith. It is stated the town is being shelled night and day and hard pressed, the Boers doubtless straining every nerve to crush the defense and either force General White to surrender or else abandon his stores and baggage and make a desperate effort to cut his way through their lines.

The relieving column is slowly being formed at Pietermaritzburg, where General Hildyard appears to be the senior officer. The greater part of the first division is now in Natal. It was imagined that Lord Methuen, who commands would be there also, but it is now stated that he is a Orange river on his way to Kimberley.

The Boers have quickly followed up their success in entrapping a hundred Dublin fusiliers and Natal volunteers by advancing in strong force toward Estcourt. They were reported Friday to be within five miles of the town with eight guns and there were unconfirmed rumors that the British garrison might be compelled to fall back.

Clubmen rubbed their eyes in sheer amazement over the thought that lower Natal was still exposed to attack, although 23,000 men from the army corps had arrived in South Africa and 9123 troops had been dispatched to Durban. They found it still more difficult to understand the situation when the military experts, who had been keeping close tally on the admiralty returns, assured them that 6421 men had landed and reinforced the garrisons in lower Natal, which previously had a strength of over 4500 men, including the naval brigade. With this evidence that the British forces could not be less than 11,000 men, they could not comprehend how there could be any risk of the isolation and investment of Estcourt or any necessity for a retreat.

The situation in Lower Natal was not so obscure as the panicking imagines. General Hildyard's second brigade had been sent to Durban with the Coldstreams from the First brigade and the Sixth brigade, and a fusilier battalion from the third division and all had arrived except the Coldstreams and the Second Devons. This was a strong infantry force, of which the Second West Yorkshires had reached Estcourt. The garrison there was weak in artillery, unless the naval brigade had brought up its guns from the ships, and on this account it might not be prepared for an attack from the Boer guns. Three batteries of field artillery were disembarked from the Armenian at Durban Thursday, but time will be required for carrying up the country and getting the horses into condition after their long voyage.

Cool military experts contend that everything could not be done in a day; that the men and stores must be taken off the ships; that arrangements must be made for feeding the troops and animals and that Pietermaritzburg was 70 miles inland. They also predicted with confidence that the Boers would retire when the relief column was ready to advance in earnest, but would be likely to destroy bridges and break up the railways behind them. The Boers in this respect will be less considerate and not so serviceable to their foes as General Yule was when he retreated from Glencoe upon Ladysmith without blowing up bridges or interfering with the railway service for Joubert's camp before Ladysmith.

The war office has issued General Buller's account of the armored train ambuscade, confirming press dispatches and minimizing the affair, but admitting that 100 men were missing. Comments upon this episode in the clubs were bitter, although every one had a good word for the gallantry of Lieutenant Winston Spencer Churchill.

"Entrapped again," and "will our officers ever be on guard against these hunters' stratagems?" were the explanations heard on every side. The real point of the criticism was the lack of good scouting, which has had a radical defect in the British campaign from the outset as Carleton, White and Yule could testify. The commander at Estcourt was, however, forced to reconnoiter with an armored train from lack of effective cavalry. The only mounted force which could be sent out after the return of the battered engine and tender consisted of a troop of Natal carbineers and of the light horse. These troopers retired after an ineffective skirmish with the enemy.

The only cavalry reserves at Cape Town are the Aldershot company of mounted infantry, with a machine gun section and a force of 600 Lancers which arrived Thursday.

The tone of the war authorities remains confident, and it is estimated that General Buller knows what he is going on in Ladysmith from day to day. This is hardly creditable since a single official sentence denoting that all was well with General White would cause great relief throughout England without giving aid or comfort to the enemy.

Public anxiety is increasing with lack of authentic news from Ladysmith, but there is a hopeful feeling respecting the western border. Colonel Baden-Powell is considered more than a match for the Boers in craft, and indeed is the only commander on the British side who can fight them in their own way. There are also signs that the column for the relief of Kimberley is well on its way and within 50 miles of the town. General Buller with 12,000 fresh troops at Cape Town has ample resources for a decisive attempt to raise the siege of Kimberley.

French Officer With Boers.

New Orleans Water Family.

New Orleans, Nov. 18--The prolonged drought is causing not only discomfort but downright suffering among the poor of New Orleans. There is no water in any of the many cisterns, and as cisterns supply the middle and lower classes with drinking water, they are hard pushed. Chief of the Fire Department O'Connor asked that it be published that he was unable to fill cisterns by pumping river water into them. He said he knew of hundreds of families in the city who were reduced to the necessity of drinking water they dip up from the gutters. So far New Orleans is 27½ inches shy on rainfall as compared with the driest previous year.

The Corsicana & Southeastern.

Madisonville Meteor.

Like a flash of lightning from a clear sky came a surveying corps through our town and county the past week. Unheralded and without ceremony this surveying crew, under the direction of Capt. F. C. Hand of Corsicana, is running a preliminary survey of a proposed route from Corsicana to Sabine Pass, to be known as the Corsicana & Southeastern railway. The surveying party reached our town last Saturday evening and struck camp in the southern portion of town, and during the following day was visited by a number of our citizens, among them being a Meteor representative. We found the captain a pleasant and agreeable gentleman, full of all kinds of talk except railroad talk, and, for a railroad man, appeared to be distressingly forgetful of what he had done and was attempting to do. When told that our people expected to hear through the county paper what the mysterious railroad move meant, he said: "Tell them that the Corsicana & Southeastern company is having a preliminary survey of the route run from Corsicana to Sabine, with a view of ascertaining the practicability of building a road, and that if local conditions are as favorable as hoped for, the road would be built, and that it would be extended on to Ft. Worth.

SCATTERING FILIPINOS. American Soldiers Push Them in the Northern Part of Luzon.

Manila, Nov. 18.—General MacArthur entered Gerona Friday and pushed his advance to Paniqui, a few miles beyond. The inhabitants remained in their houses, receiving the troops hospitably, the first instance during the entire advance from San Fernando. The railroad is intact from the washout north of Tarlac to Paniqui, but the engines and cars were partially destroyed by the insurgents retreating, but sufficient rolling stock can be repaired to insure railroad service.

Reinforcements and supplies leave here for San Fabian, Wheaton's headquarters.

The indications are the insurgent troops are widely scattered, some retreating into western Luzon, province of Samboe.

A dispatch from General Lawton, dated "On the Road between San Nicholas and San Manuel," transmits from General Young and Major Ballance at Aringan and Rosales on Nov. 15 and 16, the former moving on Pozarrub about 12 miles east of San Fabian and 25 miles west of San Nicholas, where Major Swigert found the enemy strongly entrenched. Young and Ballance had several skirmishes with the enemy, driving them northwestward, capturing prisoners, guns and a large amount of property. The troops subsisted on the country. They were cordially received by the inhabitants.

It appears the insurgents are driven northwestward off the road to Bayombong, the mountain capitol.

Lawton reports the drowning of Lieutenant Luna of the Thirty-fourth infantry, his aide and two escorts, crossing the Agno river, and also reported still missing.

Hayes telegraphed from San Isidro that he holds Aguinaldo's secretary of the interior.

Indications are now for good weather.

GIVEN TO TAYLOR.

Court Decides He Is Entitled to Vote of Nelson County.

Louisville, Nov. 18.—At Glasgow Judge Jones rendered his decision in the Nelson county case granting the writ asked for by the plaintiff, William S. Taylor, directing the precinct election officers of that county to correct the error in their certificates and make a true certification of the vote cast in their respective precincts for William S. Taylor, heretofore certified by them for William P. Taylor.

A TARIFF DEAL.

One Trying to Be Made With Brazil on Wheat and Flour.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Active negotiations are proceeding to secure from Brazil such tariff concessions as will extend the market for American wheat and American flour in that country. It is understood that a proposition to this effect was submitted to the authorities at Rio de Janeiro and they have sought to accede to the desires of the authorities here. But as definite results have been lacking, the Brazilian minister in Washington, Mr. Assiz-Barsil, and Mr. Kasson of the United States reciprocity commission, have taken up the negotiations. As coffee is admitted to the United States free of duty, the purpose of the American officials has been to secure tariff concessions on American products going to Brazil.

While the Brazilian officials have expressed a wish to make such an arrangement, it has been pointed out that the Brazilian congress would have to amend the present law and also that a large milling industry had recently sprung up in Brazil and was not likely to assent to an encouragement to American milling products. The one solution which has been considered is a Brazilian tariff having a sliding scale under which the United States would secure concessions on flour and grain in return for advantages enjoyed in Brazil. There is a desire here to advance the negotiations to a definite conclusion.

Well Known Kentuckian Dead.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 18.—Major Henry Clay McDowell, probably the best known citizen of Kentucky in private life, died near here after a long illness of heart trouble. He served with distinction on the civil staff of General Rosecrans, and since the war has been a prominent Republican. He married Anne Clay, a granddaughter of Henry Clay, and purchased historic Ashland, Clay's country seat in the suburbs of Lexington, where he resided. He was a famous entertainer, and every important personage who visited the blue grass region was his guest. He was president of the Lexington and Eastern railway and a successful breeder of trotting horses.

Indiana Church Desecrated.

Wabash, Ind., Nov. 18.—At Mount Hope Methodist church, south of Waverly, unknown parties broke into the structure, smashed the windows and doors, destroyed the pulpit, chandeliers and furniture, tore the church Bible and all the Testaments to bits and strewed them over the floor, and then carried in mud and smeared the walls and floor. The church is almost ruined as a place of worship.

Bubonic Plague Suspected.

New York, Nov. 18.—The British steamer J. W. Taylor, from Santos, is detained in quarantine under suspicion of having the bubonic plague among her crew. One man died at sea on Nov. 7 with very suspicious symptoms and Captain Waters and the ship's cook are both ill, showing indications of bubonic swellings.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Darkest Russia" at the Opera House Next Friday Evening.

Manager Mike has succeeded in securing another good show for this week—"Darkest Russia" is being billed for next Friday evening, November 24th.

This play is a drama of the intense kind. It deals with Russian political life and intrigue, and it will be presented with all of the stage settings complete, by a company composed of the most talented of players. Among those that will be seen, may be mentioned, Katherine Willard, Herbert Fortier, Kate Jepson, Harry D. Byers and Alf Perry. In fact the entire organization is one that comes with the highest commendatory things said of it, not only for the work of its individual members, but also for the well rounded out performance given of this well known success.

CHURCHILL WAS FOOLISH.

He Was a Noncombatant and the Boers
Can Execute Him.

London, Nov. 18.—According to strict adherence to the laws of war the Boers are permitted to execute Lieutenant Churchill, who was captured by the Transvaal troops near Estcourt. He is a civilian, noncombatant, but he bore arms against the Boers.

While his acts of brave during were rash and foolish it is hardly expected that the Boers have inflicted the extreme penalty.

General Buller will undoubtedly have much trouble in protecting him and securing his release, however. Lady Churchill, the young man's mother, is prostrated with grief and fear.

Fortifying the Border.

Lorenzo, Marquez, Nov. 18.—The Portuguese are fortifying the border. The feeling here against Great Britain is most intense.

News from Ladysmith states that the town is being shelled night and day.
Ladysmith is pressed and 4000 Boers have just joined the Escourt command to meet the British reinforcements.

The bridge over the Tugalo river has been destroyed.

Huntington in Control.

San Francisco, Nov. 18.—Collis P.
Huntington has full control of three-fourths of the property of the Southern Pacific company and the allied corporation of the Pacific Improvement company. With the help of the banking syndicate, headed by Speyers of New York and London, he bought out the Crocker and Stanford interests, each amounting to about one-fourth of the stock. With his own fourth this gives him control. The remaining fourth interest belongs to the Hopkins-Sears estate. Speyers hold in their possession the Crocker and Stanford securities for the present, Huntington having an iron-clad option for the final transfer to him.

Census Preparations.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Director Merriam of the census, in his annual report, estimates that there will be required for the census of 1900 more than 50,000 enumerators, over 25,000 clerks and over 20,000 special agents. On Nov. 1, the entire officers numbered 1282, mostly women employed as skilled laborers in the preliminary work. It is recommended that the permanent office of purchasing agent be created, and that two additional chiefs of division and 19 additional clerks be authorized.

Willis Tobacco.

Alvin, Tex., Nov. 18.—Mr. Claxton, formerly from Ohio, but now from near Willis, Tex., is here. Mr. Claxton says he has been growing tobacco nearly 30 years, and having heard of the Willis tobacco country, he sold out in Ohio and bought a farm near Willis, and is satisfied after making three crops that he has found the tobacco country. While he could make more weight per acre in Ohio, the Willis grown tobacco is much finer quality and worth three or four times as much on the market.

No Hope for the Patria.

Hamburg, Nov. 18.—The officials of the Hamburg-American line have received a dispatch from Cuxhaven announcing that the company's steamer, Athesia, from Philadelphia for Hamburg with the crew of the Hamburg-American steamer Patria, which caught fire off Dover, England, Wednesday while on her way from New York, Nov.
4, has arrived. The dispatch also said that the Patria had been abandoned in the North sea enveloped in flames and that there was no hope of saving the vessel.

Dwight Moody Sick.

Kansas City, Nov. 18.—Dwight L.
Moody, the evangelist, who has been preaching here to thousands nightly at Convention hall, is broken in health and is suffering from an affection of the heart. His engagement here was cut short and he is en route to his home at Northfield, Mass., in the care of Dr.
Schaufler of this city. It is admitted here that Mr. Moody's condition is serious.

The Fight Fixed.

New York, Nov. 18.—A match between Jim Jeffries, the champion heavyweight pugilist, and Jim Corbett, ex-champion, has been arranged between Corbett personally and W. A. Brady, for Jeffries. The articles will be signed next Tuesday. Jeffries will have the fixing of the date of the bout.

Rollinger Hanged.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Michael Emil Rollinger, who murdered his wife last December and then set fire to the house in an endeavor to hide his crime, was hanged in the county jail Friday. He declared his innocence.

Lawyer Appointed Consul.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The president has appointed H. W. Hart of Albany, O., to be United States consul at Dusseldorf, Germany, to succeed Pettit, deceased.
Mr. Hart is a young lawyer and a personal friend of the president.

The Olympia Was Disabled.

New York, Nov. 17.—The Journal's Washington special says it develops that the Olympia was seriously disabled on the way home and came from the Suez canal with only one shaft.

Our Flavoring Extracts of Vanilla, Lemon, Rose and others are the best. Many a good housewife's pains have come to naught by the use of poor extracts and inferior leavening powder. Try me for either mine are high grade and no higher in price, quality considered than those you buy of the Grocer. I have also the highest grade Virgin Olive Oil in any quantity, from 10c worth to a gallon, at half the price for the kind you get in bottles, and there is none finer for salads and table use. Try my Spices and you will not be disappointed.

DAVID B. HENDERSON.

erned by their individual preferences as far as that can be done without impinging on the rights of others or doing violence to the general's sense of duty to the public.

Of course he desires to have his committee as strong as possible for the handling of the special subjects referred to them. The general expects the congress to transact a great deal of very important business and thinks that in many respects this congress will be one of the most important in the history of the country.

The promotion made necessary by the death of Major John A. Logan, of the Thirty-third volunteers has been announced and put an end to the efforts of friends in behalf of favorites. Captain Simyer who is in the regulars as second lieutenants of the Third cavalry, succeeds Major Logan, and First Lieutenant W. S. Cunningham, formerly of the Fourth Texas, becomes captain. Second Lieutenant John W. Healey, formerly of the First Virginia, becomes first lieutenant.

It will be the policy of the war department to fill important vacancies in the volunteer regiments from the regular army.

Colonel David B. Culberson has left for Jefferson, Tex. Colonel Culberson has been in feeble health for several weeks and his physician has advised him to take a long rest. He expects to remain in Jefferson until he recovers.

MORE WARSHIPS.

Naval Board Recommends That Eighteen New Ships Be Built.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The naval board has recommended eighteen new warships.

The board of naval construction has agreed upon a report recommending that the navy department award the contracts for constructing the six new protected cruisers authorized by congress to the following concerns: Union Iron works, San Francisco; Lewis Nixon of the Crescent Shipbuilding works, Elizabethport, N. J.; the Bath Iron works of Bath, Me.; the Trigg Shipbuilding company of Richmond, Va.; the Fore River company of Massachusetts; Nieve & Levee of Philadelphia.

Lowest bidders did not receive the preference in all cases and it is to be presumed that the board was influenced in its selection by considerations of merititious design.

Kentucky's Official Trial.

New York, Nov. 18.—The new United States battleship Kentucky has arrived here to prepare for her trial trip over the official course between Cape Ann, Mass., and Cape Porpoise, Me. She will proceed to the navy yard to be scraped and painted. The board of naval inspection which will witness the trial from aboard the battleship Texas will visit the new battleship at the yard and inspect her there.

FLOUR MILL AT LOT.

Lott, Tex., Nov. 18.—Enough has been subscribed to assure the building of a flour mill here with a capacity of 50 barrels per day. This enterprise was rushed through so as to induce the farmers to plant more wheat.

HENDERSON ARRIVES.

Reaches Washington to Prepare for the Coming Congress.

HOLD CONFERENCES.

Besieged by Congressmen as to the Makeup of the Various Committees—Eighteen New Warships Recommended.

Washington, Nov. 18.—General Henderson, speaker to be of the next house, has reached Washington. He was not here many minutes before he was up to the chin in business, the principal part of which was to listen to advice from members informing him as to how they should be assigned on the committees so that the country must realize the very beneficent results from their great abilities.

General Henderson invariably told his friends that it would be time enough to determine the committee selections after the Republican caucus had selected him as the nominee and the house had ratified the selection.

As a matter of fact, he has already made up his committees, but he will hold himself in good readiness to make such changes after hearing personally from the members. He would be gov-
